Subject - Review of IUC.

Sir,

The concept of IUC is totally flawed in the context of current scenario in Indian telecom sector where 3 generations of telecom technologies are coexisting. Costs & benefits of a particular technology are shared among users of that technology only.

Therefore TRAI needs to create framework where all costs of telecom network are recovered from its own subscribers rather than from cross subsidization.

It also reduce regulatory intervention and allow each technology to compete with other technology.

Since as per TRAI estimates older telecom technology are going to be around for a while, all allow all to compete each organization on its own merits.

Yours sincerely
