

SANJEEV BANZAL
Advisor
Telecom Regulatory Authority of India

Sanjeev Banzal is working as Advisor with Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI). He has experience of handling important matters like Unified Licenses, spectrum management for access & Microwave services, Mobile Number Portability (MNP) matters related to emergency telecommunication, PMRTS/CMRTS, VSAT licenses, M2M/IoT communication, Smart Cities ICT infrastructure etc. He has played a key role in policy formulation in India in these matters.

He has more than 25 years of experience in overall Telecommunication Management which includes Telecom regulations, planning, installation, operational & maintenance, training management, material management, and marketing management.

He has vast international experience. He has been Chairman of the working group on 'Spectrum' in South Asian Telecommunication Regulator's Council (SATRC), a regional subgroup under Asia- Pacific Telecommunity (APT). He has also made significant contributions in ITU-D study group meetings during 2014-17. He is a member of national working group on spectrum.

Mr Banzal has been a speaker at several international seminars/workshops /trainings conducted by ITU/APT/SATRC and other international organizations. He has written several articles in Telecom Journals and newspapers.

Mr Banzal has done his Master of Engineering (ME) in Electronics and Telecommunications from Delhi College of Engineering, Delhi University and Master of Business Administration (MBA) from Management Development Institute (MDI) Gurgaon, India.